suBrahmanya - the sHanMukha dEvata

Worship of Lord Subramhanya a Vedic God is prevailing in Hindu religion since time immemorial.

Widely known as son of Lord Shiva, Lord Subrahmanya was commander-in-chief of army of Gods (Devasenapathi) who killed the demon Tharakaasura.

He is called Subrahmanya (Su+BraHmanya) the one who is highly chaste, one who has understood the Brahman (absolute reality) and blossomed by Brahma JnaAna the supreme knowledge. He is considered as Brahmachari (Bachelor).

He is also known as Kumara because He always looks like a teenager (youth). Lord Subrahmanya is considered as a personification of charm, youth, masculinity, valour, vitality and wisdom.

He is an incarnation of Manmatha;

Lord Subrahmanya is popularly known as KaArthikeya; the one whose birth star is Krittika which is a cluster of six stars whose feminine energies (divine mothers) have brought Him up.

Since He was suckled by six divine mothers He is also known as Shan-MaAthura.

He is also called as Guha, the one who dwells in caves; invariably we find mountains and caves as the abode/temples of Lord Subramanya. He is Guha the in-dweller in the hearts of his devotees.

SarAvaNabHava is another popular name of Lord Subramhanya the one who has emerged out from the powerful divine energy (Tejassu) of Lord Shiva that was initially held by Agni (Fire God) and dropped into the holy Ganga (Ganges) that was later pushed into a lake called Saravana and shoved to the reedy bushes on its banks. Saravana lake is believed to be the makeover of the divine mother Goddess Parvathi Devi.

Since He has emerged out on the laws of Saravana He came to be known as SaraVanabHava. Bhava means born.

Since He was born from the divine energy that got spilled/ shoved; He is known as Skanda. He is Ayonija.

In Sri Vishnu Sahasranama Stothram (sloka # 36), Lord Vishnu is extolled as "SkAnda – SkaNdadhAraH" the one who is...

commander of the forces of wisdom, great thoughts, light and delight and unstoppable destructive force for all taMasik people like asurasas and other evil-doers.

He is internal commander in our conflict with the good and the bad; guiding us towards the spiritual strength, wisdom and discriminative power.

Lord Sri Krishna says in Bhagawadgita (Vibhuuti Yoga) that He is SkaNda among the commanders'-in–chief.

"SenaAneEnaAm AhaM SkAnda"

Lord Subrahmanya (SKANDA) is Vibhooti roopa of Lord Sri Krishna;

An exclusive Purana named after Lord Subrahmanya called SKANDA PURANA scripted by Lord & Sage Sri VedavyaasaRu forms part of the 18 great Puranas called Ashtaadasa Maha-Puraanas.

While Peacock is the Vaahana (mount) of Lord Subrahmanya, we find Rooster (Kukkuta) on his flag and portrayed as holding a Spear as his weapon.

Kukkuta believed to be representing Ego (Tarakasura) which was subdued by Lord Subramanya;

Kukkuta gives a wake-up call at dawn; Lord Subramanya with Kukkuta as His dhwajah awaken our consciousness (Kundalini) for gnyaAna - bhakti - vairagya.

He is Mano-Vairagya-ChakraabHimaAni Devata.

Lord Subrahmanya is assumed as a Sarpa Devatha. But, in fact He is not a Sarpa Devatha. He has protected the Serpentine clan from Garuda's scare by invoking the blessings of Lord Lakshmi Narasimha. Subramanhya sought Sarpa rupa to do narsimha dhyana, aradhana without any terrestrial disturbance.

In Madhwa sampradaya, Lord Subrahmanya is considered as an incarnation of ManMatha and is placed fairly higher in cadre (8th Kakshya) of hierarchy (as per Taratamya) in line with Indra having Narayana Aavesha.

Lord Subrahmanya has a unique place among the Demi-Gods. He is associated with all the three Trinal Lords (Trimurthi);

- As incarnation of Manmatha (son of Lord Sri Hari)
- As Sanatkumara (Brahma Maanasa Puthra)

- As Skanda (son of Lord Shiva)

apart from...

- As Bharatha (brother of Lord Sri Rama)
- As Samba (son of Lord Sri Krishna & Jambavati
- Devi) during Dwapara Yuga;
- As Pradyumna [(incarnation of Manmatha) son of Lord Sri Krishna & Rukmini Devi]
- As Sudarshana – (incarnation of Manmatha)

SadhaAham Saranam Prapadhye....

I always surrender to Lord Subrahmanya who is;

- Shadaananam – One who has six faces (Shanmukha);
- Kunkuma Raktha Varnam – One whose complexion is red in colour like Kunkuma;
- Mahaamathim – one who is wise;
- Divya Mayuura Vaahanam – One whose vehicle (Vaahana) is Mayura (Peacock);
- Rudrasya Suunum – Son of Lord Shiva (Rudra);
- SurasaiNya Naatham – One who is commander-in-chief of army of Gods (Devasenapathi);
- Guham - the one who dwells in caves; in the caves of his devotees' hearts.

Lord Subrahmanya popularly known as Shanmukha or ShadaAnana is symbolized as having six faces. It is believed that six faces represent the five senses and the mind.

Lord Subrahmanya is worshiped for marital prosperity, obtaining progeny; remedy for health problems especially skin diseases like leprosy, leukoderma, relief from enemies (both internal & external), relief from debts apart from overall prosperity and general well-being.

Lord Subrahmanya is also worshiped for relief from malefic effects of Rahu/Kethu, Sarpa/Naga Dosha; Kuja (Angaraka) Dosha, delay in marriage etc. Skandha pooja removes fear (bhaya nivaarana)

Anusandhana while worshiping Lord Subramanya...

Sri Subrahmanya Devathaanthargatha;

Bharatheeramana Mukhyapraanaanthargatha;

Pradyumnaroopi Sri Naaraayana....

While Lord SubrahManya is to be worshiped on all days of the week.

- Tuesday,
- Shashti thithi (6th lunar day) and
- Krittika star days are considered to be more sacred days for worshiping Him.

Skanda (SubrahManya) is AbhimaAni Devata for Shashti thithi.

For those who are again and again getting into troubles losses failures doing krittika pooja, doing shasti pooja, doing Tuesday pooja to Skanda antargat parmatma will give smooth life.

www.bhargava

Skanda Pooja is, bhaya parihaara, nayakatva, Matru vatsalya, Sundara deha, Mangalya dosha parihaara, sarpa dosha nivarana.

SkaNda ShasHti (Subrahmanya Shashti)

Dedicated to Lord Subrahmanya, sixth day (Shashti thithi) of the sacred lunar month Margasira maAsa is known as Skanda Shashti or Subrahmanya Shashti.

It is believed to be the day Lord Subramanya was born. As such He becomes the presiding deity of Shashti tithi.

If there is khanda (broken) thithi [<Panchami (+) >Shashti] and the day is coinciding with Sunday or Tuesday + Satabhisha Nakshathra + Vaidruthi Yoga it is known as ChaMpa Shashti.

Concept remaining same we find people following different customs and traditions according to their sampradaya on the day of Subrahmanya Shashti which is mostly a South Indian festival.

Yatha-shakti, Brahmachari Pooja + Brahmana/Brahmachari Bhojana + Vastra Daana to Brahmachari along with Gopichandana and Yagnopaveetha + Dakshine is considered meritorious on the day of SkandaShashti.

Thaipusam is a special event of the day performed at all temples of Lord Subramanya especially in South. On this day devotees observe an austerity of carrying a Kaavadi (a semi-circular decorated canopy supported by a wooden rod) to the temple of Lord Subramhanya as a mark of their owe fulfilling for averting a calamity.

We find temples of Lord SubrahManya across the country and even abroad; Some of the famous shrines exclusively dedicated to Lord SubraMhanya are...

- Thiruttani,

- Palani,
- Tiruchendur,
- Tirupparakundram,
- Swami Malai and
- Pazamudhircholai in Tamil Nadu;
- Kukke Subramanya and
- Ghati Subramanya in Karnataka.

13. Subrahmanya Kshetra : Subrahmanya is situated at a distance of 166 km. from Udupi, and can be reached by bus or car from Udupi and Mangalore. It is also connected by bus from all major towns of Karnataka. Sri Vishnu Theertha Swamy, the younger brother of Sri Acharya Madhwa, and the first monk of Sode Mutt, established the Subrahmanya Mutt. Sri Vishnu Theertha is a Chiranjivi, and is said to be in Sahyachala near Subrahmanya doing penance. Subrahmanya Mutt and Subrahmanya Temple are in the same compound separated by a wall. There is one Darpana Theertha, in front of the Mutt and the Temple and the Yathris enter the temple only after a dip or footwash in the Darpana Theertha. Great scholar and refined speaker saint Sri Vidya Prasanna Theertha Swamiji is the present head of Subrahmanya Mutt. Subrahmanya is situated in the dense forests at the bottom of Sahyachala, and the Yathris become immensely happy at a mere sight of the place and its surroundings. Sri Vadiraja praises the glory of Shanmukha Subrahmanya in six Slokas:

Oh Subrahmanya, it is too difficult to praise you fully
For a mere Angapradakshina over
The left-overs served to brahmins here
Will cure major diseases like leprosy. 37

Those who committed cruel crimes,
Like brahma- hatya in previous births
Come to earth again, to suffer for past sins
Attacked by leprosy, but you relieve them from
All the pains as they approach you devotedly 38

Oh six-faced Subrahmanya, you are
The supreme commander of the army of Gods
You are like fire to destroy
The wicked ; neither the earthly poets
Nor the celestials know your glory fully,
Oh son of Shankara, Lover of Brahmins
You are all - powerful
As the army-chief of the Celestials
You earned success to Gods
Vanquishing powerful Tarakasura,easily
Without much labour or efforts. 39

Oh Subrahmanya, son of Bhavani
You offer food and shelter to those
Who come to you and cure them
From leprosy and other skin diseases,
You purify them and remove all their miseries
None on earth can match you, in glory and mercy 40

In the following Śloka, Vadiraja explains Adi Subrahmanya, which is situated near the main temple.

Oh Adi Subrahmanya, you have earlier
Propagated Skanda-mata,
Advocating supremacy of Shanmukha
But in your heart of hearts, you are Devoted to Sri Hari and are staying
Inside the cave, to worship Him calmly

And peacefully, undisturbed. 41

In the next Sloka, Vadiraja says that the everlasting (Chiranjivi) Sri Vishnu Threetha Swamy (the first saint of Sode and Subrahmanya mutts) and Subrahmanya Swamy are living together in Subrahmanya and are,naturally, bosom friends.

Oh Shanmuka, you are a real friend of Sri Vishnu Theertha Muni, you are Enemy of Tarakasura and devoted
To Lord Krishna, you wipe out the sins of your Devotees, dwelling in Sahyachala
Please favour us with the knowledge of Para Brahma, 42

14. Vedavyasa Samputa : Vadiraja now explains the samputa (box) of Vedavyasa Salagrama, which is being worshipped at Subrahmanya mutt. It can neither be opened, nor the Salagrama be seen, separately.

Oh Vedavyasa Krishna, you are present
In the samputa in the form of Salagrama
But the Samputa is too strong to open
To see you out of samputa, indicating your omnipotence,
The local people are learned
And are ever engaged in praising your glory. 43

Oh Vedavyasa, you are firm
Inside the Samputa as Sri Krishna
Is firm in the heart of Madhva Muni,
Oh Samputa Narasimha Swamy
You are all supreme, strong and powerful. 44

Kuke kshetra puraana [Skanda Purana]

” Shaunaka asked Suuta MahaMuni” Hey Mahatma, how come this place of Parashuram became Rushyashringa Kshetra? how did Subramhanya come to kumar parvat? Why did he stand here? Kumaardhara, where did it origin and where did it flow towards, kindly narrate the mahima!”

Sri Suuta preached to Shaunak and others that Parshurama kshetra where lord had performed tapas, the place where Rushyashrunga had lived, famously known as Kumara Parvata , on whose peak lives Subramhanya! I recite the story of such Kumara as known to me; Listening to this story, relieves one of kushtha [skin diseases] and other miseries. Shanmukha mahima relives us all of the pain and thus I recite the story of Kumar parvat, kumar dhara and Shanmukha as told to Parvati by Shiva, also as known by conversation between Bramha and Narada as told by Sahasrabindu to his son Shatabindu, may this bring happiness to all and this bestow punya.

In Tretayuga Sahasrabindu told thus to his son Shatabindu ” oh dear son, I narrate to you what Shiva had narrated to his son Shanmukha in his childhood . Mahasesha, one day tired of bearing the earth on his head, prayed Lord Vishnu, Lord appeared and blessed Sesha to take a break and happily choose his dwelling place for sometime till then he would support the Bramhanda as Koorma. Then Sesha chose the best among the mountains Rushyashringa took the form of Subramhanya and resided peacefully for many years in Vishnu Dhyana.

Katyayani devi yearning for a son came to this ranges and did penance for many years observing AnantPadmanabh vrata. Sesha, happy with her penance and austerity blessed her to conceive and also established an avesha of his roopa in the child. Thus, blessed with the boon, Agni entered the viirya of Shiva, Parvati Devi gave birth to a Son of six faces [Shanmukha]. That blessed son, bowing before the Parents and after obtaining their permission, went away for penance in the western direction, in the Kshetra of Parshuram, Rushyashrung Ashrama, Shanmukha, seated in the Tapasya of Shesha antargata Anantapadmanabha Swamy.

www.bhargavasarma.blogspot.com

Since Kumara had undertaken tapasya, this came to be known as Kumara parvata. And the river that flew from this place is known as Kumaradhara. And the linga here is known as Kukkelinga. Those who know this will be relived of the pains of the world. Thus, Men should try his best to serve Kumara. Those who pray Skanda seated on a peacock will achieve all the desired. Just by mere recital of this devata's name relieves off the sins.

Rishis exclaim" hey Suta puraanic, kindly give some more information extolling Kumar"! Suta explains" when one listens to the mahima of Subramhanhya, one will not fear the samsaar. In kritayuga, he is known as skanda, in treta as shanmukha, in dwapar as mayurvahan, in kaliyuga as Subrahmanya. in krita this parvat is known as Rama parvat , tretayuga Rishyashringa, in dwapar as skandaparvata, in Kaliyuga as kumaraparvata.

Kumardhara relieves all from sins, Subrahmanya relieves everyone who just remember him of hunger and thirst. Those who pray lord Skanda will always get food without fail. Early morning recitation of his name will give clean mindset free of evil.

Those who listen or tell this purana during gayatri japa, riverside, near gooseberry tree, neem, pipal etc will attain bramhaloka. He will get success and victory. A mental recitation with devotion will definitely fetch favours from skanda, also mukti is also ensured by this. Those who write this puraana also obtain Vishnu saayujya. He will be blessed with children and grandchildren without fail. He will be blessed with riches, grains and lands giving much harvest, gold and pompous life. This recitation will ensure good physical features, and many learnings of secret sciences. One who listens also will obtain progeny, and health. Thus, one must make efforts to pray lord Subrahmanya.

Query answered through my Blog...

Q. Out of ignorance I want to get clarified on a few aspects, sir. Subrahmanya is not sarpa devatha. He protected the sarpa clan from Garuda devaru with the blessings of Lord Shri Lakshmi Narasima. In that case, pls clarify as to why we do puja to nagappas on Shasti days. What is the reason behind this tradition? I want to know this since long time. Also, I can see a snake caught by the peacock in many pictures. And we do puja to nagappa on Subrahmanya festivals. Pls enlighten us with the reason behind this.

A. According to DharmaShastra, actually Nagapooja (Nagaaradhana) is prescribed on the lunar day of Panchami and if it is associated with Shashti it is preferred.

Lord Aadi Sesha (Sarpa Devatha) is the presiding deity for Panchami thithi. Similarly for Shashti thithi Lord Subramanya is the presiding deity.

Subramanhya sought Sarpa rupa to do Narsimha dhyana, aradhana without any terrestrial disturbance and also Lord Subramanya has protected/helped the Serpent (Naga) Clan, it is befitting to perform Nagaaradhna also while worshiping Lord Subramanya on Shashti day.

Regarding the picture, even in case of Lord Garuda also we come across such symbolism.

Lord Vishnu reclines on Aadi Sesha while Garuda is His mount which is an enemy of Serpents. We can come across some more such examples.

Ultimately the message is to live in tandem with the Nature and its species. According to my understanding five/seven hooded serpents are of a higher class generally very rare.

Why to worship Itara Devatas…?

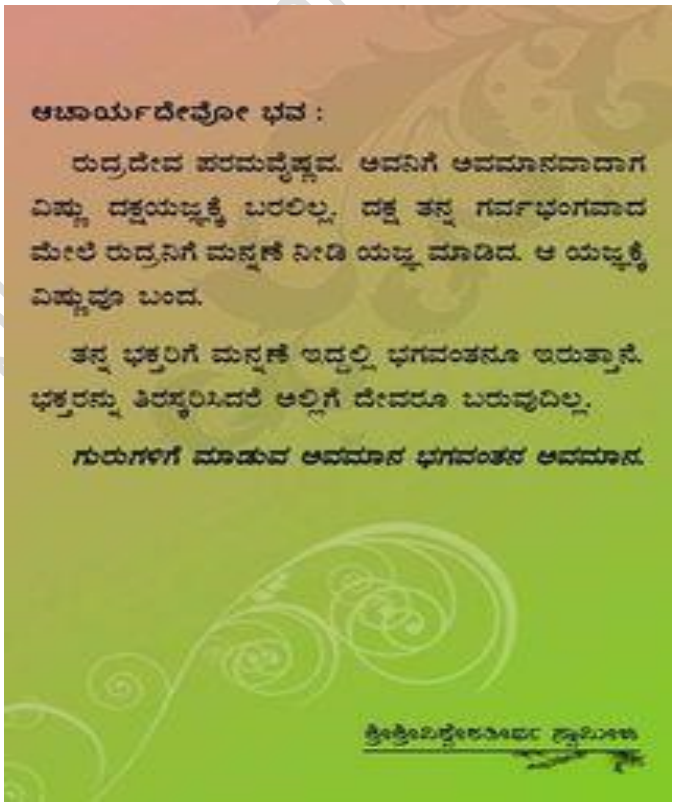
Basically, all Demi- Gods are Vishnu devotees. They are Vishnu Parivaara Devathas; Lord Vishnu will not get pleased if His devotees are not respected. One cannot overlook / ignore them in one's spiritual journey.

In the divine administrative setup ordained by its President Lord Vishnu there cannot be any compromise / ignorance in worshiping Vishnu ParivaAra Devatas like Ganapati, Rudra, SubraHmanya, NavaGrahas etc...

They should be worshipped appropriately with proper anusandhana and as per Taratamya duly understanding their Tattva; while focus should always be on

" Hari Sarvottama BharatiramanaMukhyaPraanaAntargatha...."

Lord SubraHmanya (SKANDA) is Vibhooti roopa of Lord Sri Krishna;



It is a Subhashita from the desk of Sri Visvesha Theertharu (Visvesha VaAni) where in Swamiji is highlighting the significance of giving respect to Vishnu Bhaktas;

Adding further, Vishnu saannidya will not be there where Vishnu devotees are ignored/disrespected and it will be there where they are respected/honoured.

In this regard Swamiji is quoting the example of Daksha Yagna wherein Sri Rudra Devaru, parama bhagavatottama and Vaishnavottama was insulted for which Lord Vishnu did not attend the Yagna resulting in GarvaBhanga to Daksha.

After Daksha realised the significance of Sri Rudra Devaru and was properly respected Lord Vishnu attended the same.

On a similar analogy Swamiji is stating that a Guru should never be insulted which is equal to insulting Bhagavantha > Lord Vishnu.

Do we need a better affirmation to worship Sri SubraMhanya DEvaru?
